CFTC Comments

Dear CFTC Comments:

I am writing in support of the CFTC's Proposed Federal Speculative Position Limits that will reestablish speculative position limits on major energy commodities. This rule will provide stability to the marketplace and help prevent future price bubbles. The CFTC must quickly approve a strong rule to protect America's struggling economy.

----- The Commission's name leads me to believe that it might actually be expected to regulate speculative trading--at what point were you going to start? Or are you a servant of Wall Street's elite? I am finding my tax dollars are routed to agencies and commissions that have no accountability to we, the people. When I say "we, the people," I'm not talking about the 5% which owns 95% of the wealth. I'm talking about myself, and 320 million other citizens--we are the 95% of the people who own only 5% of the wealth in this country. For us, it appears that not only do we have only 5% of the wealth in this country, we also get only 5% of the representation from government. ----- I encourage the CFTC to adopt the Proposed Federal Speculative Position Limits before volatile fuel prices further harm the country's already weakened economy.

Sincerely,

Jane Cone
