commenter_comments: It seems that a straight across the board 10:1 mandatory leverage for Forex Trading is going to hurt the industry here in the U.S>

I understand that you have things you are trying to protect traders from, but please ask yourself seriously if this rule will help you reach your goals? I think you have another think coming quite honestly.

I does not take a genius to see that this will send more money out of the country, cost jobs and does nothing to combat fraud within the industry.

I believe you will find this to be very unpopular and indeed will hurt the industry more than it will help it.

Thank You.....
