

From: Andre Tulicki <arestoll@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, January 20, 2010 5:23 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: 'Regulation of Retail Forex'

---

ID: RIN 3038-AC61

Mr. David Stawick

Your proposal of 10:1 leverage is ununderstandable, lacking basic common sense, principals of market and simply unconstitutional. Since I am using my own money and not yours, it is totally my decision what leverage I am willing to use. You cannot impose this on traders but only offer it as an option. Eg. Anyone can choose any leverage between 200 and 10.

Finally, especially now, when the President promised to take care of the "Main Street" and give better opportunities to the regular folks, you are favoring the deep pockets from Wall Street giving them again exclusive privilege.

In the United States we need decision makers with great knowledge of particular issue and work for all the people.

DON'T DO IT. Please.

Sincerely

Andre Tulicki