commenter_subject: Proposed Regulation of Retail Forex Accounts commenter_comments: I am opposed to the proposed regulation limiting leverage of retail customer accounts to 10:1. This would not guarantee honesty, transparency, nor accessibility to all traders. These attributes are the hallmarks of forex trading and are sorely lacking in other investment markets. I have been a student of the forex for over five years. My goal as a trader is to finance my children's education.

The proposed reduction in leverage will severely restrict my trading. I may be forced to move my account overseas.
