Dear Sirs,

It has come to our attention that you are requesting input on some changes your organization is considering. While there may be many changes, the one that seriously affects us is the change in the margin/leverage requirement. Currently 100 to 1, you are considering changing this to 10 to 1.

I have been out of work for over ten months and have invested many hours into learning the ins and outs of Forex trading. Where a $5,000.00 account is enough to feed and shelter us, your changes would require $50,000.00 account balance.

I do not have the funds and this change would cause serious problems for us.

Please do not make this change.

Henry Clark
