To Whom it may Concern,

I am very disappointed in the potential decision by the CFTC to limit the leverage opportunities in the forex market. By taking such action, the CFTC will be discriminating against the smallest of retail traders to the greatest of degrees. By taking advantage of the current leverage opportunities, this has been my only ability to learn and trade FOREX. There are only very few opportunities left in this great nation where a person can have a glimmer of hope to get ahead. Please do not rob us of the advantages that leveraged FOREX accounts may provide.

Please do not regulate the leverage opportunities of FOREX,

Brad Eddings
