

From: Sukhen Mitra <sukhen@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, January 20, 2010 10:13 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

Sub: RIN 3038-AC61

Sir/Madam,

I am a trader in retail currency market and I survive by trading. If the proposed 10:1 leverage becomes effective, I'll not be able to trade at all.

In this market, I solemnly believe that we traders should be given a fair choice to set/adjust leverage (or exposure) for our trades. To me, it seems 200:1 is an acceptable limit.

So long, leverage in currency markets has never been an issue to most (if not anybody) of us as I know it. I wish and pray that you leave the leverage matter as it is.

Thank you and best regards

Sukhen K Mitra