Subject: Regulation of retail forex

Hi my name is Darren van rensburg

I think if the new regulation comes into affect it will chase many traders like myself away,many of us dont have trading accounts worth tens of thousands of dollars,basically anyone that has an account smaller than 10 000$ wont be able to trade,i think the only reason that they would do this is to chase all the small traders away and only have trading availabe to big institutions and companies,wich is very unfair,myself as a small trader understand the risks invoveld with forex trading and i think i should be able to determine my own level of leverage risk.(ID NO RIN3038-AC61)

Kind Regards
