Hello,

I would like to comment on your new proposal to change forex retail brokers regulations, and change maximum leverage from 100:1 to 10:1.

Please note that this decision will not only be hard to many many traders that like to trade with this kind of leverage (including me), but it will also kill the forex business in the USA, because all traders will move to brokers in other countries that still offer the kind of leverage they need.

Please don't KILL forex.

Thanks,
