Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

Identification number RIN 3038-AC61

I was recently informed about the proposed change in minimum leverage for retail Forex. This type of change will prohibit the smaller investor from managing their leverage in a way that fits their own circumstances and appetite for risk. To some extent it prevents the smaller investor really having a seat at the table in Forex.

I urge you to reconsider this as it really does close doors and take away freedom of choice.
