

From: Velda <fxcrackerjack@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, January 21, 2010 10:22 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: RIN 3038-AC61 - I have just read your 50 pages!!

Effectively taking a fact and reversing the intent should be against the law, legally and morally.

RIN 3038-AC61 is an outright scheme (your words) to gain power and monies. In the beginning CFTC was pacifically barred from interfering where the new proposed rules would give unlimited power to the CFTC to control all monetary investment transactions within and without the boundaries of the United States Of America.

With the internet came freedom and opportunity for individuals. This has endangered profits of large players and their ability to manipulate the market for gain.

In no way does this proposed change protect the investor. This is an appalling attempt to stifle individual investors while increasing the power of the same people who put us into our current mess. Do not mistake my intent here. Black and white – this is an illegal attempt to cut out the smaller players, restricting competition, forcing a monopoly control in the hands of large players.

This cannot be tolerated for the sake of our country and fair play. You should all be ashamed.

Sincerely,
Velda Hooper
1178 Big Canoe
Jasper, GA 30143