Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex'

To whom it may concern:

I have been involved with the Forex market for several years. I realize that it can be a volatile market and that the risks and rewards can be high. However, I am very concerned that your regulations decide what risk I should take. I believe I should determine my risk and that I am intelligent enough to manage this. I actually believe that the changes you have made in the past and the 10:1 leverage limit that you are proposing increase my risk. I am upset that such regulations can be implemented in the United States where the free market system is embraced. I believe your actions cater to one group, and that is the rich.

I hope you will reconsider your past actions and that which you are proposing.

Thank you,

Bob Hatch
