Hello,

I did watch the meeting that was held in March regarding JP Morgans alleged manipulation and short position on silver which was emailed to Mr. Eluid Ramirez in real time by Mr. Andrew Maguire who was not allowed to speak at that meeting. I understand there was some very incriminating action taking place with JP Morgan sending out signals. I just reviewed the SEC's meeting/hearing with Goldman Sachs on television and not over the inter-net and was very impressed with the SEC's job of questioning all Goldman Sachs members involved which included the CEO of Goldman Sachs and I'll tell you the SEC and every Senator had NO PROBLEM in telling Goldman Sachs about their wrong doings. I was just wondering what the CFTC was going to do with the information they received that day ????? Many people / Americans never knew of this meeting until the New York Post was kind enough to print it in their paper. I do hope the CFTC can be as effective as the SEC proved themselves today.....

Regards,
