

From: Heather McConnell <macheath23@yahoo.com>
Sent: Saturday, April 24, 2010 4:48 PM
To: Metals Hearing <metalshearing@CFTC.gov>
Subject: silver

There are bunkers and banksters for the super-rich, plus frozen seedbanks and tons of underground piped-in air. If anything survives, what will the rest of us use to buy it? Ask yourself - how many rich people can get through the eye of a needle? The masses are not asking for alot - just enough to survive in a world we are not even creating. The sheople deserve a small chance to see the next decade. Is it your job to put yet another nail in the coffin of the few real humans who remain? Then your salary will stick to your flesh like fire and you too will starve to death.