Subject: position limits

Commenting on the recent exposure by Andrew Maguire of massive illegal precious metals market manipulation by wealthy speculators:

Of course there should be enforcement of position limits on precious metals. These manipulators are nothing but a gang of thieves and criminals. Anything that can be done to prevent manipulation of markets for profit or for any reason, should be done. How can an investor make decisions without a level playing field? You have our support to do all you can to put a stop to this criminal manipulation.
