

From: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Sent: Monday, April 19, 2010 7:21 AM
To: Metals Hearing <metalshearing@CFTC.gov>
Subject: FW: Industry Filings: Comments on Industry Submissions

From: ppbb.thompson@shaw.ca [mailto:ppbb.thompson@shaw.ca]
Sent: Sunday, April 18, 2010 12:08 PM
To: secretary
Subject: Industry Filings: Comments on Industry Submissions

With regards to Silver,

I have been tracking Silver for a number of years, and I'm appalled at the open market manipulation. It is so obvious that it's a wonder the CFTC has not done anything to limit the number of positions, which even to the layman are ridiculously out of control. Should the CFTC not pursue a corrective course of action, then I suggest to apply the same leverage to all commodities. Then perhaps, the costs for food would come down considerably to a point where the middle class can actually eat and have a roof over their head.

Once again, the CFTC has proven to be a political puppet and a coward. But will be held accountable when the truth becomes well known, such as the Madoff scandal. You have known about silver manipulation for over 10 years. Please act accordingly.