To whom it may concern

As the demise of Goldman Sachs began today, I believe similar fraud exists in the gold and silver markets

The obvious manipulation that is taken place daily by allowing the COMEX to sell obscene amounts of future contracts, far more than the amount of metals that they have on hand.

I may be mistaken but I believe they have written more contracts in ounces than all the metal (gold and silver) that has ever been mined in all of human history.

If this is not fraud than what is.

How much longer can you live with this lie

How do any of you sleep at night.

If you know something is wrong and you keep doing it that is the definition of sin.

It is not worth having to pay the cost of this in eternity
Thank you for your time
