

From: Bruce Rodman <brnewgold@hotmail.com>
Sent: Sunday, April 11, 2010 4:04 PM
To: metalshearing@cftc.com; Metals Hearing <metalshearing@CFTC.gov>
Cc: info@butlerresearch.com
Subject: Commission proceedings re speculative position limits

Secretary of the commission:

Dear Sir:

Re the position limits re comex speculative positions under discussion.
Your hearings are as much a moral issue as an economic one.

Jesus understood the evil of the money changers. These are the bankers of today.
If you are a moral man, maybe there is some hope from this process. If not, then probably you chuck this letter now anyway.

I have followed gold and silver from $250US gold and as a financial accountant I understood the demise of world currencies from the pressures of various types of debt and security monetization from the ponzi processes of world fiat banking now under collapse. Losses and fees converted to stripping the wealth of the underlings and future serfs to the bankers, assuming they can seize effective control and secure it. They seem to have control but that could be an allusion..history is being made.

This is all part of the central bank world franchising process to control and transfer wealth to the the top layers of society with central banking at the top of the fiat power pyramid. Obviously the regulatory agencies get a slice in this ongoing transfer of wealth in various indirect manners. This is how the system works!

As wealth is stripped and transferred in its many forms and involved agencies, the dispossessed become the slaves of the financial masters. This process is well under way in the US. Detroit City for example. It is tragic and can only worsen unless people who have the authority to administer change.. do so.

I hope you are such a man. Your country and our world need brave men to restore trust and integrity to the governing processes. All the best. I am a Thomas Jefferson fan, he was a brave man too.

Yours truly,

Bruce Rodman

Hotmail & Messenger. Get them on your phone now.