Regarding RIN 3038-AC61.

Not sure why the Forex market needs any more regulation. The Forex account I use allows margin of up to 100 to 1, but that is based on cash in the account. So I am not risking a negative margin call, I understand that I risk only money that I have already placed in my account. The safety line is already in place, if I can't cover the size of the trade with available assets, then no trade takes place.

Please leave this alone.
