Subject: Gold/Silver Price Manipulation

Dear Sirs,

It is now quite apparent for all to see that the gold and silver markets are being manipulated. As a market participant this is an outrage and potential death sentence for the operation of free markets. If market participants feel it is rigged there won't be a market. Why should a select few banks be able to do what individuals were prohibited from doing with respect to position limits? Do the right thing and clear the air of this foul stench of market manipulation.

Regards,

Harold Grabowski
