Dear Mr. Stavick & Staff,

I am just an individual investor living here in the Midwest and am retired. I want to comment via mail concerning the position limits for precious metals.

I hope you establish speculative limit positions in Comex silver of not more than 1200-1500 contracts. Restrict any hedging exemption from those limits as well to legitimate hedgers. The levels of concentration in silver futures in the recent years on the short side is appalling.

I have high hopes that a new administration would level the playing field for people like us instead of favoring the likes of J.P. Morgan & Goldman Sachs.

Thanks for your efforts and a chance for the average citizen to let you know.

Regards,

Anthony T. Salvatore
