Re: Precious Metals Position Limits

Dear Sir;

As an active trader of precious metals on the Comex, I would very much want to see position limits enacted for precious metals, especially silver. This would help level the playing field and end the manipulative control of the large concentrated short position by one or two entities in the 4 or less category. This concentration is clearly visible in your Commitment of Traders and Bank Participation report. Please restrict any hedging exemptions from those limits to legitimate hedgers.

Yours truly,

John H. Ramistella
