Subject: "Regulation of Retail Forex"

This is a bad idea on the leverage. How is this going to make any difference to the professionals with enough money to make a living. Looks like government is screwing the little guy again. I am a small trader just trying to make a living. Thanks alot more regulations on the little people what we need is some regulations on the establishment. Just to let you know I am signing up to be a teaparty member.. So have a nice day.
