

April 10, 2010

Dear Sirs-

Thanks for the ability to comment on position limits for the precious metals. As a metals trader I believe metal prices are being manipulated by large short positions established by the bullion banks. I believe that a speculative position limit of 1500 contracts for COMEX silver would prevent the bullion banks from controlling the price of silver. This practice is not fair to the average investor and should be regulated. Thank you.

Leon Blood

277 Upper Cross Road

Lebanon, Maine 04027