Subject: How dare you continue this fraud

As we have gone from 20% speculative trading to 60% speculative trading by non commercial producers and the number of contacts have multiplied from millions to trillions and the positions and price effect are not even known because of the freedom to pretend that ICE usa trades are somehow under london rules you have allowed the futures market, especially energy to become one of the darkest and most price influential forms of trade in trading history. That these large OTC trades are not cleared transparently they cannot be regulated and we, the 300 million in america who use energy are at the mercy of a secret market that must be regulated. Even margins on these futures are as low as six%. Six percent?! How can you allow the CFTC to continue this practice and expect anything to change in the form of manipulation of oil, food, and other commodities that the world depends on for survival. These energy and food commodities have not even been explained or debated. You must regulate all commodity trading, especially the size of positions by the monster banks and their subsidiaries.
