

From: Chris <ctay@cox.net>
Sent: Thursday, January 14, 2010 4:21 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

It's not about YOUR personal opinion of what is too much or not enough leverage. It's about the FREEDOM to CHOOSE. There should be an available choice to those want to use the leverage amount they desire, So whatever level you choose to use is up to you the, trader.

If you don't think they won't keep screwing up the markets and/or make it impossible for retail traders to trade then you better watch out because this is a slippery slope if it gets started.

Say NO to them meddling with our leverage. Their focus should be on FRAUD PROTECTION. Not screwing up the free market.

This is still America. The Land of the Free and the Home of the brave.