RE: Comment on Proposed Co-Location and Proximity Hosting Rule
Date: 21 April 2011

On April 21, 2011, Commission staff held a meeting with Savvis to discuss the technology behind co-location and latency measurement services. In attendance from the Commission were Melissa Mitchell and Christopher Russel-Wood. Roji Oommen and David Shacochis, represented Savvis. The purpose of the meeting was to provide a Commission staff with an understanding of what services Savvis provides as a third-party service provider how Savvis developed the services it currently offers for co-location and/or proximity hosting. The tutorial did not involve any substantive aspects of the Commission's proposed rule on Co-Location.
