

From: Heston Williams <heston350@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, January 21, 2010 10:57 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

Secretary David Stawick,

I have been made aware that your office is seeking comment on the proposed regulations concerning retail forex trading (ID# RIN 3038-AC61) . In particular, I am referencing the "10-to-limitation." This limitation, in my opinion, would be a great restraint to many people who through many hours of hard work and study have learned to control, and use 100:1 leverage to make their living. I am one of those people, sir.

I am currently a full time student, studying for a double major. Fall 2010 I will receive a B.S. Business, and B.S. Geology degrees. Forex provides me an income, allowing me spend more time studying. Limiting my leverage to only 10:1 would be a DRASTIC setback to me, and my financial future, as growing my account now is critical.

I do not support the proposed regulations for further forex regulation.

Sincerely,

Heston W. Williams