Re: Speculation on Crude Oil

Dear Mr. Gensler:

The high gas price in the country, I believe, is not due to high demand during this weak economy but is caused by speculation by well heeled individuals whose only desire is to make an immediate profit notwithstanding the harm it causes to the nation. I think this is the time for you invoke the powers vested in CFTC by Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act.

The Commission should seriously consider raising the margin requirements and put some limitation on the contracts. If you do not protect the nation from the speculators now when will you?

Yours truly,
