

From: markmatz@gmx.com
Sent: Friday, January 22, 2010 2:24 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Public Comment Form

Below is the result of your feedback form. It was submitted by (markmatz@gmx.com) on Friday, January 22, 2010 at 14:23:39

commenter_subject: Release: 5772-10

commenter_frdate: January 13, 2010

commenter_frpage: <http://www.cftc.gov/> commenter_comments: Limiting leverage to 10:1 in retail forex is unnecessary and will hurt many small retail traders, Traders are responsible for their own trades and outcomes. There is always an inherent risk of loss no matter what the leverage requirement is, this regulation will only serve to cripple small traders and increase fraud by way of people seeking alternative means to get around this regulation. This proposed regulation does not protect the consumer.

commenter_name: Mark Matzeldelaflor commenter_withhold_address_on: ON commenter_address1: 1237 23rd St

commenter_city: San Diego

commenter_state: CA

commenter_zip: 92102

commenter_phone: 8583444001
