You guys are raising cost on the little guy. I will make sure this goes viral on you tube. This will let every one know about the insanity you guys are about to impose on thousands of americans that are trying to start a business in finance. So either get your act together or start looking for an new job because alot of hard working americans are not gonna take this crap any more. Why on earth would you want to destroy the one business that is pure price yet let stock manipulation run rampant.
