

From: james nance <antiquesadmin@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, January 22, 2010 4:58 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation Regarding Forex Margin

The lower margin now offered has leveled the playing field for retail investors to profit from and hedge against government induced inflation. Please act to stop any law passing that would hamper retail investors ability to trade forex. Raising margin limits to 10 to 1 would require a retail investor to put up $10K to trade and in effect closing the door on the average american citizen be able to take advantage of currency flutuations the way the BIG Banks Do NOW.