

From: sherdon mcfarlane <sherdonmcfar78@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, January 22, 2010 5:29 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: regulation of retail forex

I strongly urge the CFTC to leave the forex market as it currently stands, i for one favor having 100-1 leverage because that is how i make my money, i trade bigger lots for less pips that way i dont have to stay in a trade for too long. We (forex traders) know and understand risk rewards ratio that is the first thing a forex broker explain to us before we even attemp to place a trade. So thanks-but-no-thanks CFTC we are not dumb we all understand how the market works, something tells me this new potential move you guys have up your sleeve is not about protecting us traders but is about some shady politician wanting to get their cut. Noooo!!!!!! do not regulate the market to 10-1 leverage please leave it the way it is do not take money out of my pocket my family depends on my forex income.