

From: Lincoln Miller <disposable.clone@gmail.com>
Sent: Saturday, January 23, 2010 10:51 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

Please remove your consideration of implementation of "10 to 1" leverage for retail Forex traders. I can understand the rest of the rules for stopping scam artists, but this particular rule can only be interpreted as a malicious assault on those who are not already trillionaires. We would like our chance to be trillionaires too, and, to that end, we must be able to risk what we have for a chance to fund our dreams. If some foolish people scream in pain at losing their life savings, they can only look at themselves, especially after you close the scam loopholes that allow predation on us little people. With money comes responsibility to manage it correctly. If that is not done, then no one deserves to keep it. Let those who use correct money management make many times more money, even as the foolish ones lose theirs.