Subject: Leverage Freedom

I am deeply concerned that after reducing the option to leverage at 400:1 and 200:1 the CFTC is now proposing to further reduce opportunity in the market by removing the 100:1 leverage and leaving only 10:1 and below.

That appears to be a blatant effort to eliminate opportunity for small investors to build and grow from small beginnings and thus leave the playing field to the "big boys". At the current limits we do not need "mother" to watch over us any more. We need the right and the freedom to take some risk if we hope to achieve our dreams with small beginnings.

Please do not push us further into a corner and limit our opportunities by taking away the leverage we need to lift ourselves up.
