

From: PhillReeder <phillreeder@gmail.com>
Sent: Sunday, January 24, 2010 1:09 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Leave the leverage

With lower leverage, the risk-prone trader will more likely push the envelope of his risk appetite even further in order to realize significant gains.
Only people with credit cards (or capable of doing a wire transfer can trade) so being 18 or over is necessary.

I think, as adults, we have the right to choose for ourselves.
We have the right to choose.

This is another blow against basic human rights.
If you really want to do some good, close the casinos.