Hi,

It is extremely important that the US has functional prediction markets. Prediction markets provide vital, real-time, and generally accurate information for individuals, politicians, and organizations to react to. Political prediction markets are one of the most important prediction markets since these elections and decisions affect everyone's lives. There is no better way to get accurate information on these topics than by reviewing prediction markets.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Eric P. Rodawig
