

From: Nicholas Kross

Organization(s): (individual)

Comment No: 69590

Date: 8/26/2022

Comment Text:

In these polarized times, people are more worried than ever about how politics will affect their daily lives. By default, only a wealthy and sophisticated trader could insure themselves of all the risks resulting from a change in elected officials. With fully-regulated election betting contracts, this financial insurance becomes available to the everyday American.