

From: richard weilnau <scgliderider@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, January 25, 2010 7:46 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Cc: steve@mbtrading.com
Subject: RE: proposed restrictions

---

Thanks for your reply allow me to supply you with a brief overview of my investing over 25 years . for the first ten years i bought stocks such as ibm and general electric these stocks did well but i missed stellar gains that were happening in the dot com era. So yes i too jumped on the dot com bus and i did make some money and when it was all said and done i lost some money but i made more than i lost. This taught me a lesson in investing 101 the market can retrace and quite harshly i might add. This is when i taught myself about option trading with the help of a couple of optionetics classes. I too made money at this but i was at the mercy of the market makers the folks that had to take the other side of my trade several times i would want to exit a trade for a profit and they would not take trade even at market or slightly below market. I soon got disgusted with this and entered forex trading this is a fast moving and very liquid market that offers several levels of leverage. Personally theres many days that i trade micro lots 10 to 1 leverage but when the market is trending i trade 100 to 1 if you know anything about market dynamics its all about probabilities and money management . If your trying to protect the general public from themselves your going to handicap the rest of us that have paid the price to educate ourselves. Theres a place for people to educate themselves away from the talking heads like Cramer and Cnbc its WizeTrade Tv take a minute and google it if you want socialism just keep implementing programs to cripple success minded folks that want more than government handouts. Again I would welcome the opportunity to talk personally with someone from your office about this pending bill
Sincerely Richard

--- On Fri, 1/22/10, secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov> wrote:

From: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: RE: proposed restrictions
To: "richard weilnau" <scgliderider@yahoo.com>
Date: Friday, January 22, 2010, 4:45 PM

Your submission has been received by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. Please be advised that this acknowledgement does not constitute either Commission approval of the subject proposal or a determination that the proposal is consistent with the Act and the regulations thereunder.

---

From: richard weilnau [mailto:scgliderider@yahoo.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 21, 2010 9:18 PM
To: secretary
Subject: proposed restrictions

As usual the government is sticking its nose in things it doesnt understand if the us innacts legislation to limit margin in forex trading it will just send us to trade with foreign based forex trading companies this will mean that these revenues will go abroad. I personally want to be contacted with what your agency plans to do and when so i can start researching foregin based forex companies my phone number is 864-710-5700 Richard Weilnau