

From: David Isaacs <zack2climb@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, January 25, 2010 8:17 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

I would like to add my voice to those concerned about the proposed change of leverage from 100:1 to 10:1. I am strongly against it. I have been trading forex for the last 3 years now & would like to say that we all know what we are getting ourselves into when we use more leverage, it is a personal choice, a personal freedom. Like the right to vote, you either want to or you don't. America is still the land of the free & the brave, where a man through hard work & perseverance can reach the mountain top. A negative move like this would kill all hope for many small people like myself, who would hope to reach this mountain top, as in effect we would have no choice, but to call it quits. I know that this new proposal will not be passed as it would be sending the message that this administration only believes in the big man & his family & cares nothing for the poor man & his family who one day with hard work & the Grace of God ..could pull himself up out of the valley, for that trip to the mountain top. Please do not kill our dreams.