I am against the 10:1 change. Over the years I trade more conservatively. But 10:1 who are you protecting? I only trade what I can lose and I have in the past lost my account. Waited until I have built up capital to trade again. Changed my rules to correct the loss and started again.

I am not an expert trader by any means and I have made some mistakes but they are mine I learn from them.

Not sure how you are collecting the opinions of traders -- please put mine in the pile for not changing the leverage.

Thank you.
