

From: radnalac@yahoo.com
Sent: Tuesday, January 26, 2010 9:06 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Public Comment Form

Below is the result of your feedback form. It was submitted by (radnalac@yahoo.com) on Tuesday, January 26, 2010 at 09:05:33

commenter_subject: Regulation of Retail Forex commenter_frdate: unk commenter_frpage: unk commenter_comments: Please do not increase the margin requirements on retail forex. It will eliminate me from participating in the forex market. Since I can't trust "professional brokers" with my money I have instead spent many years learning how to trade the forex market using current events, technical indicators & many other tools so I can trade in the REtail Forex Market. Professional traders are only interested in making money for people who are already wealthy (much larger commissions) so the only one looking out for me is me. The government has destroyed the banking industry so if I put my savings in a bank I can get maybe 0.0010% interest. That's a big help. The Retail Forex market gives me the opportunity to participate without having to risk my savings with some Madoff investor who doesn't give a damn about me because I only have a few hundred or a few thousand dollars for him to steal.

I can only view this proposed change as an effort to keep this investment tool available only to the wealthy & to keep the average citizen under their domain & control.

Again, I ask please do not increase these margin requirements it will only result in lost jobs, less money in the system & more resentment for a government that is trying very hard to bankrupt me. "You" (the government) are making retirement very very difficult.

commenter_name: Jim O'Leary commenter_withhold_address_on: ON commenter_address1: not comfortable providing commenter_city: this commenter_state: info

commenter_zip: over

commenter_phone: the internet
