Hi, i want to voice my concern over the new plans for Forex trading. I am a full time trader with a relatively small account. However I can just about make a living from trading full time. I am not in Forex to become a millionaire, just make ends meet. I fear the new regulations will mean an end to my trading and therefore my livelihood. I fully understand the risks of trading and dont feel the need to be "protected" in this way

I strongly protest against the new regulaton to set leverage at a maximum 1:10.
