To whom it may concern,

We feel that this regulation is very extreme. I am writing this email so that maybe this will help in the fight against this new regulation. Please consider not putting this into effect as we believe this will put an end to our trading. I believe maybe having traders take and complete a test showing that they understand the risk of trading and not adjusting the leverage. In closing, I feel that there are other alternatives to what the CFTC is trying to accomplish other than doing this drastic change. Thanks, Evan Alonzo
