I am writing in reference to proposed rules that would limit margins offered by Forex Brokers to 10:1. I have traded the Forex markets for the past two years to supplement my income. My goal is to trade full time in the Forex Markets. I believe that restricting Brokers to this margin would effectively kill the retail forex market in the USA. I will simply move my account to a foreign broker or be forced to quit all together. I think a move to limit margins would be an unfortunate event.

Sincerely,
