Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

I am fully against your proposal to place 10:1 leverage restrictions on the retail forex investor. It goes against the free capitalist market that has helped make this nation great. How can you even be considering coming in between an investor and his dealer and forcing the investor to invest in the manner that you see fit. It has a strange likeness to that of a communist country. It is not the right of the government to take away the freedoms of the American people through regulations. Your regulations should protect our freedoms. How it was explained to me from my dealer is that the purpose of your new regulations or to protect consumers. Then we need protection from you the CFTC who is stealing our rights and way of making a honest living.
