

From: Austin Warby <izzykid2@yahoo.com>
Sent: Monday, February 1, 2010 1:40 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

Dear Secretary,

I would like to voice my opinion specifically in regards to the new leverage proposal. I do not agree with it. I believe that companies should be able to use whatever leverage they wish, because we the customers can distinguish for ourselves what is too much or too little, not somebody else. It is my money, I will decide how to use it. The forex is 100 percent different in relation to the stock market. Furthermore the brokers do such a good job with advertising demo accounts that anyone who enters into this market knows exactly what they're getting into. If you want to do something to help, you should crack down on all of the stupid robot expert advisors, they are the scam artists. Or another way to help would be to make the NFA website easier to understand, it is so confusing. Too many people are scammed by false brokers in other parts of the world. Oh and I was flagged by everyone that risk disclosure statement. So we know exactly what's going on. Please don't change the leverage.

Thank you,

Austin Warby of Las Vegas, NV