Subject: Proposed Regulation for Forex Trading -small guys

To whom it may concern,

I trade forex currencies on the retail side with a ton of other small speculator/investors. Raising the leverage to a 10:1 as proposed by the CFTC is going to take myself and many many other day traders who offer liquidity out of these markets. They will be, along with myself, moving their accounts out of the USA and placing them offshore. It is about time to stop the farce that is taking place since this new administration took office one year ago. I am very strongly opposed to this proposal.

Thank you very much for reconsidering this proposal.
