Dear Secretary of Cftc,

I just read the new proposal to increase the margin with great disblief and disappointment. As a regular individual trader with fxcm for the last few years, the lower margins benefited a great deal. I am quite sure there other millions of small traders like myself who will be forced out trading currencies with fxcm in USA. I would like to know who would be reaping the benefits of raising the margin level? Defenetly not the individaul small trader who has a dream of making it in the market place. Please reconsider you proposal.

Thank you.
