Subject: Forex Regulations

I understand the CFTC is considering new regualtions for the forex market on leveraging form 100/1 to 10/1. I strongly object to this possible change and believe it should be removed from your consideration. It is unnecessary and damaging to my trading efforts. Trying to save people from themselves will only make it worse as they will now have to invest 10 times as much to earn a living. In these market times as an individual trader trying to supplement income, this will most definitely have an effect on my families lifestyle.
